

SOR File No.15309-1US

- 13 -

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

An integrated waterproofing membrane is provided which comprises a preformed waterproofing material layer covered on one major face with a adherent impervious material liner, and on the other major face with an adherent porous support sheet. The integral waterproofing membrane of the present invention allows for application without releasing of a layer or even using a warming source for the application on a surface to be waterproofed.